To be his own Ombudsman Wilmington's TM goes to Washington

Sterling Morris, Town Manager of Wilmington is expected home shortly from a two day visit to Washington, D.C. Morris left Wilmington at a late hour Monday for a two day visit to the National Graduate School, in Washington.

The purpose of the visit of Mr. Morris is one of exploration. He wants to find out if there are any Federal funds available to Wilmington that have not been tapped. He is visiting the National Graduate School because it is believed to be a source of information concerning the allocation of Federal funds. Morris, when he left, said he would spend two days there.

He is interested in the procurement and administration of Federal funds for Wilmington. During the past summer Morris has talked with several officials of the Commonwealth and of other organizations concerning the lack of knowledge of the municipalities concerning available funds. He told the representative of one prominent organization, who came to the Town Hall seeing if there was any way that the organization could help towns and cities, that if it were to serve as an Ombudsman for Federal funds it would be doing a tremendous service for the cities and towns near Boston. Nothing seems to have happened as a result of that suggestion.

No Ombudsman being available, Morris is going to try to do the job himself.

Meanwhile the Boston newspapers are talking of Federal funds that can be expected by the cities and towns in the Commonwealth if the Congress passes the Federal Revenue Sharing bill. Wilmington, according to the stories in the Globe, will receive $400,155, and Tewksbury $432,830.

Rep Fred Cain has new legislation for Reading Light

Legislation designed to give Wilmington consumers a voice in the policies and practices of the Reading Municipal Light Department was filed last week, in the State House by Representative Fred Cain.

The charges and quality of service of the Reading utility has been under attack for several years by Wilmington officials and homeowners.

Fred Cain's bill would allow the selectmen of Wilmington, together with the selectmen of North Reading and Lynnfield, towns also served by the Reading utility, each appoint a member of the governing body of the Reading Electric Power Company.

In explaining his proposed legislation, Representative Cain said

"Wilmington power consumers should be entitled to participate in the decisions of the electric utility which is supposed to serve them. Under the proposed legislation, our selectmen will have direct access to the information needed to insure reasonable rates and reliable service for Wilmington homeowners."

George Hooper, chairman of the Electric Power Study Committee, appointed by the Wilmington Selectmen has enthusiastically endorsed Fred Cain's proposal. According to Hooper, "Fred Cain's legislature proposal is the first new approach to the problem of electric power in Wilmington in many years. If it is adopted, it will give us a chance to deal with Reading Light as equals, instead of as master and slave."

Fatal accident on Rte 125 Crossing

A Dorchester man was killed and three persons were injured in a three-car mishap at the junction of Rte. 125 and Andover Street in Wilmington Wednesday at 7:30 a.m. One of the injured was a Wilmington man.

Police said Zigman Tomaszewski, 58 of 15 Melmen St., Dorchester was dead on arrival at Winchester Hospital. Tomaszewski was a passenger in a pickup truck driven by Andrew Mantis, 35, of 258 Burlington Ave., Wilmington.

Mantis suffered head injuries in the crash, and was admitted to Lawrence General Hospital where his condition was described as good.

Another passenger in Mantis' truck, John J. Cobin, 56 of 117 Belmont St., Somerville was admitted to Lawrence General Hospital. He suffered broken ribs on both sides, a fractured spine, broken left collar bone and lacerations on his face and head, and was treated in the intensive care unit.

Lois Phinney, 21, of 94 Old Andover St., Reading, was treated and released from New England Memorial Hospital in Stoneham with lacerations on her face. Dana Sullivan, 41, of 20 Frederick Drive, Wilmington, was also involved in the crash, but suffered no injuries, police said.

Two pickup trucks and a car were in the mishap, according to the report.

Saturday is the final day

The final date in which a voter can register, if he wishes to participate in the November Presidential elections, is this coming Saturday.

Both the Tewksbury and the Wilmington town halls will be open from noon to 10 pm in order that the Registrars may enroll new voters.

In Wilmington the registration has an added importance, in that new residents who wish to take part in the coming Special Town Meeting must be registered before 10 pm Saturday. It is the final opportunity for those who wish to express themselves on such subjects as New Schools, Electric Power, Industry, or other items to be discussed in the Town Meeting.

Chestnuts - Real live chestnuts!

Chestnuts, real live ones, have not been seen in Wilmington since the 1920's, due to the ravages of the Chestnut Blight, which killed all the trees in this country. But the blight did not kill the roots, and over the years there have been small trees, all of which eventually were killed.

Two years ago Arthur Bureau of the Wilmington Conservation Commission found a sizeable tree, but it died soon. Last year some chestnuts were brought into the Town Crier office from a shrub in North Reading. The proved to be infertile, probably from self-fertilization.

Tony Palotta of Malden and Chief Paul Lynch of the Wilmington police have discovered a good sized tree on the estate of the late Dr. Rounds, in North Wilmington, and the tree, shown in the photo, seem to be large enough to hold fertile nuts. If so that means there is probably another chestnut tree in the area, bearing nuts, and waiting for the first frost, to open the burs.

Tewksbury Master Plan committee hears proposals

The Tewksbury Master Plan Committee and Planning Board Tuesday night heard planning consultants present three alternative proposals for future zoning in the town.

Francois Vigier and Raymond Vincent, of consultants Nash - Vigier, said the town could accept any of the plans or combine elements of two or more of them. Vigier pointed out in all three plans, "There is less land zoned for industry than is zoned today."

All three plans provided for cluster zoning in South Tewksbury between Route 38 and the Billerica town line, as well as greenbelt areas of open spaces running approximately from Lowell Gas Co. on Chambers Street to the Andover town line.

Alternative I would provide a Mixed Use Industrial Zoning. Light industry would be allowed along Route 495, with private roads running on one or both sides of the highway. Heavy industry would be permitted on 1700 acres along both sides of the B & M railroad tracks, divided into two sections by the greenbelt. A four-lane highway would be built beside the tracks from the junction of Main Street and Route 495 almost to Rte. 93.

Alternative II would feature Polynucleated and Commercial Centers. A four-lane highway would still run beside the B & M railroad tracks for four miles, with 225 acres of light and 770 acres of heavy industrial zones allowed there. There would be no industry beside Rte. 495. Planned Unit Development zones would be allowed throughout most of North Tewksbury from the Lowell town line to North Street along Andover Street, as well as on sections of Main Street. This would total 1,117 acres, divided by a greenbelt, a series of commercial cluster zones of small shopping centers would be permitted along Main Street.

Alternative III would call for Strip Commercial and PUD zones. This would include a series of small, light industrial areas along Route 495 and Main Street. No heavy industry zones would be allowed.

PUD zones would be allowed in the same areas as Alternative II, a road would be built along the abandoned B & M rail line.

Vigier said alternative I would also require a major effort to get funds for the highway through the heavy industry zone. He estimated the main highway would cost more than $500,000 a mile for the six miles.

Alternative II would feature Polynucleated and Commercial Centers. A four-lane highway would still run beside the B & M railroad tracks for four miles, with 225 acres of light and 770 acres of heavy industrial zones allowed there. There would be no industry beside Rte. 495. Planned Unit Development zones would be allowed throughout most

Plan public meetings on new school buildings

The Wilmington School Department will hold two separate evening meetings to inform the public about the school building options which will be presented to the voters at the forthcoming Special Town Meeting on Monday, October 30, 1972 at 7:30 p.m.

The meetings will be held on two different evenings of the week. The first session will be on Tuesday evening, October 10th at 8 in the High School auditorium. The second session will be on Thursday evening, October 26th at 8 o'clock in the cafeteria at the North Intermediate School. Both sessions will cover the same material so residents may plan to attend the one most convenient for them.

Among the items to be discussed will be the various voting options, the educational needs and assessment, and the impact of kindergartens and increased enrollments. The 65% reimbursement factor, and its importance to this Town Meeting, will be carefully explained. There will also be ample opportunity for the audience to ask questions.

Wilmington ReDevelopment nears final phase

According to Director Robert F. Leahy, of the Wilmington Redevelopment Authority, the Authority is approaching the final phase of the execution of its land assembly project.

The appraisal of the property at the Eames Street site in Wilmington was completed by Kenneth P. Harkins of Lowell, and the appraisal was reviewed by members of the Authority who made recommendations to the Department of Community Affairs as to the final price of the parcels. All prices have been approved by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Department of Community Affairs.

John W. McCann, Attorney for the Authority has completed the final title examination and the Authority expects the eminent domain taking to be completed by the end of October.

The Wilmington Town Meeting of 1971 authorized the WRA to assemble the 40 acres of land of questionable title on Eames Street, through its power of eminent domain, for industrial development in an effort to stem the continuing rise of the tax rate and to broaden the tax base of the Town. The 40 acres consist of 92 parcels of land, 36 of which are privately-owned. Approximately 26 acres will be available for sale for industrial use.

After the assembly and the taking by eminent domain is completed, it is the intent of the Authority to sell the property to an individual or to a company for industrial development, said development to begin within 12 months of the time of the sale.

The Wilmington Redevelopment Authority meets the second and fourth Monday evenings of each month at their new offices at the Town Hall. Chairman is Raymond A. McNamara Vice-Chairman, William Butt Secretary, Robert F. Leahy Treasurer, Richard Thackeray Assistant Treasurer, Milton Bradford, Jr. who is the state-appointed member.

Tewksbury Selectmen consider the revoking of Propane Permit

Tewksbury's Board of Selectmen voted unanimously, Tuesday night, to hold a hearing to consider revoking the Lowell Gas Company permit to store propane gas at its Chapman Road facility. The selectmen also ordered the building inspector to halt the work now in progress to rebuild the tanks.

Angered by the procedure used by the Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities, in a DPU hearing to allow the tanks, Sept. 29, the selectmen stipulated their hearing be called for Lowell Gas "to show cause why their permit should not be revoked".

The board agreed if the DPU granted a permit, the town would seek a court injunction to halt work on the tanks. Zaroulis believed if the town revoked its permit, the company couldn't appeal to the DPU. He said only the superior and supreme judicial courts could hear an appeal.

The selectmen decided the hearing would be held within three weeks. The delay was planned to give Town Counsel Charles J. Zaroulis time to meet with experts and local state, and federal authorities to determine if the gas company violated any rules, regulations or laws for propane operations. The same group would advise the selectmen what rules and regulations they could demand if forced to grant the permit.

A firefighter and truck driver died in a propane explosion February 9 at the Chapman Road plant. The company didn't contest a $500 Department of Labor fine for alleged violations of the Occupational Safety and Health Act in connection with the explosion.

Zaroulis said there were several laws that apparently gave the selectmen power to revoke the license.

He noted one law stated "any license may be revoked for cause" if the selectmen followed correct procedures. He said "if they have violated any rule, regulation or law...then you have the right to revoke a license."

After a weekend of studying other laws, Zaroulis said, he was "leaning toward the opinion 'we (the selectmen) have concurrent jurisdiction with the DPU' whether to allow the tanks."

Zaroulis advised the board to place the burden of proof on the gas company in a hearing. He, chairman Joseph J. Whelan and other selectmen criticized the DPU for placing the burden of proof on the town in DPU hearings.

At the hearings, said Zaroulis, gas company officials arrived with "canned testimony." He said on such occasions the town hadn't the technical experts to question Lowell Gas spokesmen and the DPU didn't provide any.

"We're faced with an incomprehensible situation," said Zaroulis. In past dealings with the company, he said, "We've had Lowell Gas lie to us. We know they lied," but town spokesmen had no way of knowing at the hearings whether the company was telling the truth about technical matters.

He said, "They never refer to specific laws, rules or regulations." Because the DPU allowed this, he said, the town had no way of even verifying the legality of many company statements.

"We come away feeling we've been had," added Zaroulis.

Zaroulis' advice and the vote came after engineer Robert Hooson, appointed by the selectmen to investigate Lowell Gas, reported to the board.

Hooson warned that the DPU would grant a permit for the tanks. He advised the selectmen to prepare rules and regulations to make the new propane plant as safe as possible once the permit was granted. He said the restrictions and requirements should be prepared prior to the DPU's granting a permit because afterwards it might be too late.

"We should be prepared for the eventuality that the DPU is going to approve this facility," he suggested. Hooson noted a number of cases where serious study could prevent later hazards at the plant.

Although Lowell Gas was criticized September 29 for providing only two hydrants at its planned facility, he said, no one had proposed how many should be there as well as the placing and mechanics of the hydrants.

Without remote shut-off valves for each hydrant, he said, if a truck struck one hydrant all others might be made inoperable.

The town, he said, could require certification and licensing of all propane truck drivers using town roads. He suggested the town prepare a disaster plan in case of an emergency at the plant. Lowell Gas didn't refer to any such plan at the hearing, he said.

During the discussion, the several selectmen accused Lowell Gas of not acting in good faith in preparing plans for new propane tanks. Zaroulis noted how many times during the DPU hearing September 29 he, a layman, was able to get the company to admit it hadn't made safety studies in planning many facets of a new propane operation.

Whelan said, "I was disturbed to learn no safety measures had been taken since the blast." Selectman Charles H. Goldstein said, "I think it is incumbent on this board at this time to keep that damn thing out of here."

Zaroulis and Whelan said the company hadn't substantiated the need for propane at the plant. Zaroulis questioned the need for propane, and said he had unsubstantiated information only 22 per cent of the liquid natural gas kept at the facility was used locally.

Coach Lentine's soccer eleven battled St. John's Prep to a scoreless tie Tuesday afternoon to extend their league leading record to 4-0-2. Chuck Woods played well enough in the goal to preserve the Wildcats streak, however the offense suffered a mild let down following last Thursday's win over Peabody.

Senior left wing Bob Swisher continued his steady play in the tie. The Wildcats maintained a 30-23 shots on net advantage, but could capitalize on their scoring attempts.

Displaying an awesome offensive attack against an inexperienced Tanner eleven last week, ten varsity players participated in the scoring parade in an 11-2 triumph. Ralph Decker (three goals and an assist) led the attack along with Bob Swisher (1-3), Mark Kalkanjian (2 goals), Dan Burns (2 assists), Chipping in with one goal each were Wayne Crosswell, Dave Malone, Bruce McDonald, Alan Jensen and Howie Coombs. John Kaminski closed out the parade picking up an assist on Jensen's third period goal.

Tewksbury Cross Country Tops Andover

Tewksbury High School Varsity Cross Country Team over took a strong Andover squad by winning a tri-meet with Central Catholic. Tewksbury over took Andover 26 to 33 while they also beat Central by an 18 to 48 margin. Tewksbury had a perfect Merrimack Valley Cross Country season last year and they are 3 wins and no losses in league action to date.

Gary Ballou was the individual victor over the tri-meet as the Tewksbury Captain lead the field with a fine 12:26 time. Peter Minutiti lead Tewksbury to the win with a 4th place finish.

The final varsity results include: 1st, Gary Ballou (T), 2nd, George Itz (A), 3rd Jeff Mower (A), 4th Peter Minutiti (T), 5th Capnel Cooper (A), 6th John Sidney (CC).

7th Dan Kelley (T), 8th Fred McCann, 9th Bob Ciampa (T), 10th Jim Weitz (T), 11th Ted Whitney (T), 12th Gary Erskine (T), 13th Phil Nove (T), 14th Pat Russo (A), 15th Kevin Gearin (C), 16th Mike Solimon, 17th Kevin Dougherty (T), 18th Tony DiOrto (CC) 19th Kevin Warren (T), 20th Greg Burton (A), 21st and 22nd place went to Andover while Central took 23rd to 25th place.

Tewksbury's win over Dracut was a critical meet as Tewksbury won last year's dual meet title based on win-lost record and Dracut won the play-off title in the League Meet where all the teams compete against each other on the same day.

The top area teams are Wilmington and Billerica.

Field Hockey Wins 3-0

On the distaff side of the Wildcat athletic spectrum are the field hockey players and they opened their 72 season with an impressive 3-0 win over Billerica.

Captain Joan Bellissimo opened the scoring in an unassisted effort in the first half. Diane Rossi made it 2-0 moments later in the half with Doria McMillan and Joan Bellissimo assisting.

The third and final score came late in the second half off the stick of Miss Bellissimo with Miss Rossi picking up the lone assist.

Goalie Bertie Pilcher was equal to the task in preserving the white wash, while Doria McMillan turned in a very creditable performance at forward in her initial varsity game. Wingers Karen Boeri and Linda McVicker played their usual steady checking game. In the preliminary contest the jayvees battled their counterparts from Billerica to a scoreless tie despite a wide 6-1 shots on net advantage.

The Rams (3-0-0) maintained their hold on first place with a 27-0 triumph over the Cowboys (0-1-2) and the Mad Dogs (1-1-1) won their initial game by edging the Vikings (0-2-1), 13-7.

Mike Micalizzi put the Rams on the scoreboard early in the first half with a 16 yard run of an intercepted pass. A 21 point outburst in the last half put the game out of sight as Bill Maxwell (an 8 yd pass from Steve Welch), Micalizzi (a 24 yd pass interception) and Ed Donahue (six yd sweep) scored. Extra points were converted by Welch, Rumson and Donahue.

In the lif lifter Gregg Moulton scored twice on a pair of 8 yard sweeps in the first half to provide the Mad Dogs with their margin of victory. Chip Bruce ran 24 yards in the second half to avert a Viking shut out.

WILMINGTON NEEDS BOYS 15 - 16

The Midget Intramural Program needs boys - Only 54 boys in the 15-16 year old bracket have signed up to participate in the six team intramural midget league this fall and winter.

The present number is not sufficient for the program, which includes one game a week at the Youth Arena for the next six months.

Any boy of midget age who would like to take part in the program is urged to register at Mac & Duff's Sport Shop so that the league can become a reality.

This initial attempt by the Skating Club to provide organized activity for this age group has not been met with overwhelming success. Last season over 65 boys participated in an experimental outdoor program.

The schedule begins next week and continues weekly until the first of April. If any boy now engaged in other athletic activities would like to play later in the season, he should make his future interest known by signing up as soon as possible. The midget division will play Saturday evenings and Tuesday mornings.

TEWKSBURY JAYCEES-
JAYCEEETTES SPONSOR
SAFETY PROGRAM

The Tewksbury Jaycees and Jayceeettes will sponsor a project of Halloween safety. The program has been designed to preserve the best aspects of the "trick or treat" tradition for the youngsters of Tewksbury.

Darrell Fernald, local Jaycee President has appointed Ralph Kelley chairman and Mrs. James Pollard, Jayceeette president has indicated that her group views the program with enthusiasm.

The plan, which employs the Halloween safety rules of the National Safety Council, provides parents with a set of guidelines for protecting the safety of youngsters who take part in the annual Halloween custom of masquerading while visiting neighbors to collect candy and other treats.

On Halloween Night, residents wishing to cooperate are requested to keep their porch or exterior lights on as an indication of their willingness to welcome young visitors. Children are encouraged to call only at lighted homes.

Parents are asked to think in terms of light colored costumes decorated with reflective tape for greater visibility of the children. Face masks should be eliminated as they tend to restrict vision. Plan costumes that will avoid tripping the youngsters.

WILMINGTON MINUTEMEN
SIXTH THUNDER BRIDGE
MUSTER

Wilmington Minutemen will participate in the upcoming Sixth Thunder Bridge Muster this Sunday at Carlisle.

Musket, pistol and cannon competitions, tomahawk and knife throwing, life and drum exhibitions, a continuous antiques bazaar, liberty pole capping, refreshments, camping facilities, specially struck commemorative medals, and much, much more will mark this year's annual Thunder Bridge Colonial Muster, set in Carlisle for Sunday, October 8th.

All activities will center near Foss Farm and route 225 at the corner of Skelton and River Road in Carlisle near the Bedford Carlisle line. The rain date for festivities is Monday, October 9th, Columbus Day.

Highlight of the afternoon will be a tactical demonstration between the crown and colonial forces capturing the color, pageantry, skills and excitement of the 18th century military engagement.

The local Thunder Bridge Muster is based upon pre-revolutionary musters. The public is invited to enjoy the events at Thunder Bridge and recapture, along with the colonials, the excitement and competition and the community spirit which our ancestors must have felt during a typical Muster Day.

POLICE RECOVER
STOLEN GOODS

A two-month police investigation in Tewksbury resulted in the recovery of a large quantity of stolen guns and other articles Monday night.

Inspector G. Kenneth Hague said three juvenile suspects will face court action in connection with the stolen items, as well as several persons who allegedly received stolen goods. The items were taken in at least six housebreaks and several thefts from cars, he said.

Hague, who was aided in the investigation by Ptl. Walter J. Jop Jr. and Richard F. Landers, said the articles were recovered from homes, fields, woods and persons who allegedly bought them. "We're continuing the search and articles are still trickling in," reported Hague.

Among articles already recovered were three shotguns, four rifles, three pistols, stereo tape decks, tape recorders, cameras and a large quantity of mechanics' and carpenters' tools.

The last arson try was successful

From the arsonist's viewpoint, the fire in the former Wilmington DAV headquarters on Grove Avenue was successful, last Thursday. Only parts of two walls were standing. Friday morning, although it had appeared, during the progress of the Thursday evening fire that the fire department had the fire licked, on several occasions.

The fire was nearly out several times, but then it would spring up again with renewed fury, as though a fresh supply of incendiary material had been supplied.

It was the second fire in two days, and the fourth or fifth in the past year. The William F. Tattersall Chapter of the Disabled American Veterans had long since given up trying to meet there, and have been meeting in the Neel-Ellsworth Post of the V.F.W.

There are a lot of memories with that building, which overlooked Silver Lake and which, nearly fifty years ago, was a small restaurant, operated by a man named Jack McLean.

The restaurant was built far enough from the then traveled way of Grove Avenue to allow for ample parking in front. It was not known at the time that Grove Avenue was actually much nearer than the traveled way would indicate. When this was finally determined, years later, the building had no room for parking in front.

Jack McLean has seven stools, at the counter of his original restaurant, which was known by the inspiring name of Jack's Lunch. It expanded as the business grew, a room being added to the right for the sale of fried clams, etc. until it was about twice its original size. Later a second story was added.

It was a sort of Mecca, in the days before World War II. Two American Indians, who lived in the Brand Avenue area, Pete and Joe Newell, were the grounds keepers and handy men of the establishment. There was a wrestling ring, and there would be matches, during the summer months. All this, of course, brought more business to Jack's Lunch, and kept the cook busy. One of the cooks, it can be recalled, perhaps 45 years ago was a young fellow named Arthur V. Lynch, who worked there for a couple of summers as a young man. Mr. Lynch, now retired, is still a resident of the Silver Lake area, and a well known and respected citizen.

The Last of the DAV Clubhouse. A Wilmington fireman, at right, is directing a hose against the flames.

Business was falling off at the time of World War II, and Jack enlisted in a brand new organization of the US Navy - the Sea Bees. He died before the war was over.

It was in a way a sort of Mecca, in those days between the two World Wars. It was handy to Silver Lake, it was a step over for someone on his way to the Silver Lake railroad station. There was, part of the time, a wrestling ring adjacent, and during the summer months there would professional - of a sort - matches.

By the time that the United States got into World War II business was languishing at Jack's Lunch. He closed it down and enlisted in the Sea Bees. He never got to start it up again.

A few years after the war was over, the William F. Tattersall Chapter of the DAV was started. The members purchased the old lunch cart and repaired and refurbished it. An oak floor was put in, and of course a bar. There was a lot of work involved.

In the early fifties it was loaned to the town for a school room. The school department was desperately short of space. They also used the American Legion hall for a school room. For two or three years or so, it was used.

The classrooms a thing of the past, the DAV kept on. On Saturday nights there would be card parties, upstairs. That was the nucleus of the trouble that was to come.

About 1960 houses were built across the street. At about the same time a determination was made of the actual route of Grove Avenue. It was much closer to the DAV Hall than had been imagined.

No longer an isolated place, up the road, the hall was now in a residential area, and there were those who objected to card parties lasting to the wee hours of the morning. There were those who objected, too, to cars being parked on Grove Avenue.

One by one members moved away. The old clubhouse seemed to be dying. Finally, one morning over a year ago, there was a fire.

Now there have been four or five more. The Clubhouse that was Jack's Lunch is only a memory.

"He was coming down on my side," Anthony Orio of Burlington told the Wilmington police after an accident on Middlesex Ave. last Saturday evening. Orio's car, a Chrysler, is at left, and the other car can be seen straddling the center line of the street. The area is being washed down by Wilmington firemen.

Mrs. Orio, taken to the Winchester Hospital, suffered the loss of three teeth, a compound fracture of the nose, and other lacerations.

A Wilmington boy, from Lowell Street, was reported to have been driving the Oldsmobile.

NOT ALL HOSES AND TRUCKS: Cub Scouts Pack 47, Den 7 learned Monday from Tewksbury Firefighter Dick Stirling that a good communication system is one of the most important parts of fighting blazes.

Mrs. Alan E. Gould

On Sunday afternoon, September 3rd at 4 o'clock, Christine Marie McFayden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James McFayden of 143 Federal St., Wilmington became the bride of Alan Eugene Gould, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph D. Gould of Rice Cambridge. Father Edmund Parker performed the ceremony before the altar of St. Thomas' Church in Wilmington.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in a floor length a-line gown of chantilly lace with matching cathedral length veil. She carried a bouquet of white daisies and yellow roses.

Catherine McFayden, of 143 Federal Street, Wilmington served her sister as maid of honor in a yellow chiffon a-line gown featuring an empire waistline. She carried a bouquet of yellow daisies and apricot roses. Her headpiece was accented with apricot roses.

Serving as bridesmaids were Joanne Bergstrom of Woburn; Joanne Lessard of Norwood; Maureen Curtis of Roslindale; Deborah Mangrone of Somerville and Ellen Kelley of Dorchester.

They wore apricot chiffon gowns and carried bouquets of apricot daisies and yellow roses. Their headpieces were of yellow roses.

Joseph P. Gould of Arlington served as best man while ushering duties were in charge of James McFayden of Wilmington; Michael Haag of Nashua, N.H.; Keith Ronald of Wheaton, Md.; Thomas Conrad of Newport, R.I. and James Benoit of Newton.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the Colonial Hilton in Lynnfield. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. McFayden chose a peach and coral gown and wore a corsage of coral roses.

The mother of the groom was attired in a pink chiffon gown with a corsage of pink roses.

The new Mrs. Gould is a math major at Northeastern University and will graduate in June. Mr. Gould graduated from Northeastern as a physics major in 1969 and is presently employed as a programmer.

DURKIN SAYS
POLLS SOMETIMES WRONG

Roger Durkin, the Independent candidate for Congress from the Fifth District recently indicated his belief that polls are not always accurate.

A poll, taken soon after the excitement of the primaries named John Kerry with a significant lead over both Roger Durkin and Paul Cronin.

"This year poolsters have been wrong many times," Durkin commented. For New Hampshire the presidential primary polls were off by 20 points and in California they missed by 24%.

"Pollsters haven't been talking to enough people in a year where the average person is becoming more aware of what candidate's really stand for."

Durkin added that his many walks through the District during the campaign has made him increasingly aware of favorable support for his candidacy.

Nosey Nancy

Send your announcements to Nancy Box 208, Wilmington or call, after five, 658-4865. If I'm not there I'll call you.

Hey you Track Fellas! That was some letter you wrote! This gal is certainly delighted with the invite to be an Honorary member of the team, that is. You're right about that needle - that's exactly what she was doing to you and touche' you win, cause she couldn't run the first mile and would probably have to crawl the last - nevermind walk it! Mebbe since she's honorary, she could possibly get to use the Little Red Wagon - puhleeze? And anyhow, where've you all bee lately? Did ja change the course so this gal couldn't see you walking? What 'bout that? Going to frame that letter.

Glad to see that this gorgeous weather brought out the Big Box and summer hat. It's a sight for sore eyes - and is it warm enuf for ya on that tour? Well, that'll be sumthin to remember on those cold winter nites. You said it!!

Cards to Karen Sughrue who is confined to the hospital for a while. All her classmates will want to send cards to her on Floradale Avenue. Hope you're back on the scene soon Karen. We certainly miss you down in our neck of the woods. And Don Robbins friends will be glad to hear that he's now receiving company and that the Doc says he's on the road to recovery. Stay put there Boy. You know what this gal said about her big stick OK, Chris?

Speaking of those confined, Jerry Sullivan of Chrest Avenue has been a patient at Winchester Hospital for about a week with an infection in his foot - understand he stepped on a nail. Bet Jerry would like to hear from all his friends. He is a member of the 7th grade class at the North Intermediate.

And guess what - confined with Jerry is Freddie Battista, formerly of Crest Ave who recently moved to Chelsea. We understand Freddie is living in Willie again now. Both boys are on the mend and keeping the nurses hopping.

"Dinner with Donna" turned out to be quite a Do last Saturday nite where this gal met Ron MacKenzie and Jim Miceli, Jean Aldo, and Laura Cair, Fred F. Cain missed - flew off to a convention for the weekend. But everything was lovely including the hostess, Donna Fantasia Seidell.

Hear that Ron's Testimonial was a huge success also, with Willie turning out full force.

Fred Jaeschke's Retirement Do was that evening too. Much happiness in the future Fred.

Speaking of retiring - Tony Costa, a 16 year employee of Wildwood Cemetery Department will be on the job for the last time on Friday - reached that tender age you know. Best of luck Tony!

Frank Sferazza, you make this gal feel mighty humble, but non-the-less none - the - less, very pleased to share them with your kind words and she wants to share them with the folks, with your permission - from the WHS Athletic Boosters Association this week.

Dear Nancy:
Just a note to thank you for telling people, via your column, about the Kevin Nolan Scholarship Fund.

The Fund is really growing, but, as you know, our goal is unlimited. We certainly hope we can continue to build this Fund in memory of a fine boy and athlete.

"We are sure a good portion of the monies realized thus far have come from the fine publicity you have given it."

Sincerely
Frank Sferazza

But, Frank, you know this gal cries a lot. Again - thanks for those words. Am certain it has more to do with your working so hard and the Boosters and that the Nolans are such fine people and so well-loved. This gal is sending you for that Fund $1.00 for each member of the Club, because one of them was nearly lost to us by drowning one time and this Ma remembers well that hopeless feeling of futility.

How about it folks? Shara a dollar for each kid at home? That would put that Fund right over the top. You can send your checks to the Kevin Nolan Scholarship Fund % Wilmington High School Boosters Association Town. Lets go! Knew you would - Thanks! You all make me feel so happy!

"I shall pass this way but once, Any good thing therefore I can do, Or any kindness I can Show, Let me do it now. Let me not defer it, or neglect it. For I shall not pass this way again."

Jo called - That Horribles Parade will be at the end of October, so get those thinking caps out for the costumes, kids and this will show you how much a custom for Willis it's fast becoming. Jo! Those Selectmen and collective committees and the chief were trying to set the date for the Town Meeting on that Monday and were stumped cause they didn't want to interfere with the Horribles Parade - what about that one and the date was only decided after consulting with Jo over the telephone! Yowee - guess that shows what this berg thinks about the importance of kids!! Great guys!!

The young folk have a new Bible Study Group which has been great for them and there's no age limit. If you are interested, call Bill Watson at 151 Rolley Tavern Lane, North Andover 1-682-3400 who sponsors it locally. The meeting is at Noonan's 669 Main St. in Town, 657-7742 and it meets on Thursday nites at 8 pm. The fellas went to a Christian Coffee House in Methuen last Saturday and the discussion continued in the hut kitchen until 3 am on Sunday. This thrills this Ma. Great going group!!

Wilmington was on the scene at the North Shore Ceramic League Exhibit in Melrose last week. Marion and Elmer Woller of 29 Main St. displayed their students' lovely hand made pieces. Understated a hit of the show was their hand painted Christmas ornaments, which were ordered by studios all over the area. Congrats folks!

Mrs. Buxton, Ladies Auxiliary of Post 2458 VFW will be in charge of a table at the Autumn Fair at Solomon Post 8819, Boston Rd., Billerica on Saturday from 12 to 4 pm. Donations will be appreciated. Call Mrs. Buxton at 658-2406.

A few reminders - Bobby Doucette of No. Wilmington Shell says that by the time you read this, there will be only a week and a half left to get your Fall inspection sticker. So let's get going and no more procrastinating...Saturday October 7th the Board of Registrars will be in session from Noon to 10 pm continuously to get you registered to vote in the November election, or change your status or residence or what you and even if you have lived in Willie only 30 days yet!!

If you want that very special blood test profile tomorrow is the last day to let the Board of Health know before their big Health Panorama on Sunday the 15th. The only thing you pay for is the blood test, and by all standards the price is low, courtesy of your Board of Health. You don't have to take the blood test to participate in the rest of the program. So let's get with it!

If you play tennis, or would like to brush up - get to the WHS tennis courts on Saturday at 10 and take it from there.

Most important of all, the eyes and sight of our children, 5 years old. Get them tested on the 14th by the Lions Club. Make a note of this - it's a week from Saturday.

Speaking of youngsters under five - it certainly didn't take Louie Kleynen long to start flashing pictures of that new granddaughter.

She was born on September 22nd - in Germany yet! And Louie was showing pictures after Mass on Saturday evening at St. Thomas!

Meanwhile - know what we've got back at the hut? psychedelic carpet - someone spilled a bucket of white paint in the middle of the green carpet! Yup, right in front of the fireplace. Oh, well, she keeps muttering to herself that the Clam is more important than the rug - but five hundred dollars worth? Yep, even that much!!

sure do miss Ya and Luv Ya -

Wildcats Top Sachems

CAPT. LEO CAMPBELL (63) and Bob Scarano (56) lead Wildcats through the tunnel onto the field at Pentucket last Saturday. The combined efforts of the cheerleaders and drum majorettes form the tunnel each week prior to kickoff.

STEVE COURSEY (14) takes a pitch from quarterback Steve Hayden (11) and is about to sweep right end behind punting guard Paul Olson (62) in last Saturday's action at Pentucket. Also pictured are Bruce McMillan (88) and Paul Fitch (30).

The varsity exploded for three second-quarter touchdowns enroute to a 28-13 triumph over Pentucket last Saturday in a non-conference encounter. The Wildcats are now 2-0 with their seasonal home opener listed for Saturday afternoon against the improved Rangers of Methuen.

Wildcats 31. Four plays later Steve Hayden took a quick pitch from quarterback Rick Cooke and skirted left end for a three yard td and a Pentucket 6-0 lead. The conversion attempt failed and the Wildcats were in trouble. Unable to move the ball with any consistency both clubs exchanged punts entering into the second stanza. Moving from midfield to the Pentucket 13. Coach Bellissimo's eleven was knocking on the door only to have another pass attempt intercepted at the seven by the Sachems Dan Jennings. However, the alert Wildcat defense got the ball right back on the ensuing play as Bruce McMillan recovered a fumble by Cooke at the six. Dean Devlin took a pitch from Coursey and moved the ball to the three, from which the Wildcats quarterback plunged in for the tying td. Doug Stewart's placement kick was blocked and the teams were deadlocked at 6-6.

Following the kickoff Pentucket fumbled away the pigskin at their own 15 with Jack Holloway recovering. Five plays later the Wildcats went ahead on Devlin's two yard plunge off right tackle behind the blocking of Paul Olson and Bob Scarano. A pass for the two point PAT went incomplete against the second defensive unit. Friday afternoon the Freshmen lost their second straight, this time 6-0 to the Pentucket Frosh. Meanwhile the jayvees broke open a close 12-6 game scoring three last period td's to post a 36-6 win over the Sachems junior varsity.

The younger Wildcats scored early in the opening period when Mark Nelson tossed a 7 yard scoring pass to Art Gilbert. The play was set up by lineman Bob Reid's interception of a Pentucket aerial. Nelson scored moments later on a 40 yard punt return for a jayvee lead of 12-0. In the last stanza Bob Bavota scored on a short run and Nelson ran in for the two-point conversion. Bavota scored again moments later on a 30 yard run following a Lynn Rinker fumble recovery at midfield. Quinn ran in for the PAT and a 28-6 lead. Reserve quarterback Bob Dorval closed out the scoring with a one yard keeper late in the contest. The last score was set up by Wayne MacDonald's recovery of another Sachem fumble.

CAR ROBBED IN SCHOOL LOT

Douglas Hamilton of 2 Bannister Rd., Tewksbury, told police his car was robbed Saturday in the Center School parking lot, while he was watching a football game. Hamilton said a tape deck worth $120 and a stereo FM radio were taken.

WHS Harriers Win Three out of Four

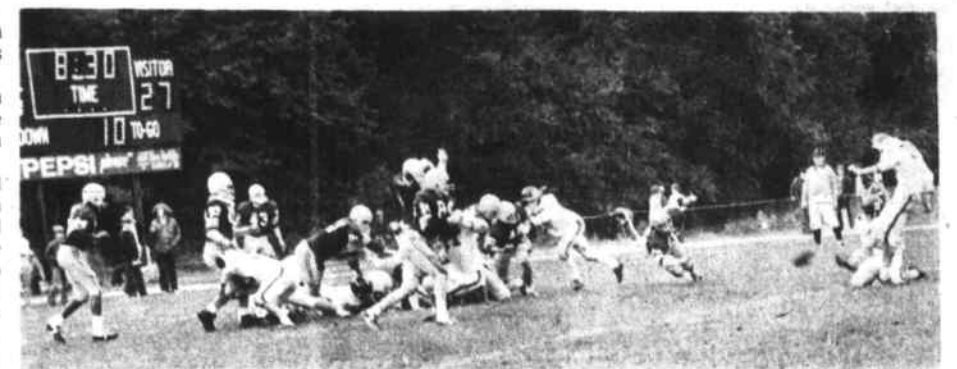

The varsity harriers won three of four meets in the last week to move into a second place tie in the conference with a 3-1 record. On September 29th the Wildcats were edged by the conference leading Billerica Indians, 28-29. In this seasonal opener Doug Spring (third) tied a WHS school record for the varsity 2.7 mile course with a time of 14:18. The record was set in 1964 by Jim Sousa.

Coach Kelley's runners swept by Austin Prep (23-34) and Dracut (15-47) in a triangular meet at Austin. The Wildcats strength proved the difference as Carl Abell (2nd in 14:13), Doug Spring (3rd in 14:27), Larry Singlais (4th in 14:34), Ian MacInnis (6th in 14:46), Jim Murphy (7th in 14:53), and Mark Blaisdell (9th in 14:54) gave the varsity six of the first ten places good enough for a sweep.

Monday afternoon the varsity romped over Burlington 15-48 shutting out the Red Devils as the Wildcats gained the first five places. Doug Spring was first with a winning time of 12:53 followed by Abell, MacInnis, Singlais and Blaisdell.

Meanwhile the junior varsity is undefeated at 4-0 as they topped Billerica 16-48 behind the running of John Boudreau, Barry Foster, Paul Reed and Pete McNaughton; shutout Austin (16-46) and Dracut (15-48) last week and then on Monday put forth their finest team effort with a crushing 15-50 win over Burlington.

In the jayvee triumph over the Red Devils, Reed, Foster and Boudreau each came in with times of 9:48 and the placement was determined by tenths of a second.

PLACEKICKER DOUG STEWART: Successfully converts the last point in last Saturday's 28-6 triumph over Pentucket. Steve Coursey is the holder.

TEENBITS

by Kathy Heider - 851-2652

Now it's that time again when we all become bookworms. We have to put away all our summer fun and put on our shoes to go back to school.

It looks like purple is going to be the most prominent color this year at Tewksbury High. Everybody has at least one thing that is purple - boys and girls alike.

But did you see Steve D. in his blue pants, striped shirt, and neet-o jacket? Blue is your color Steve!

As for fun, the senior class held a dance at the school last Saturday night and the junior class is planning one for the end of October. More information on that one later.

As you know, Karen Carceo and Stan Kerr, senior and junior class presidents, Patrice Ashen and Karen Houston, senior and junior class vice presidents, other members of the student council, and members of the student body negotiated with the school committee for more dances. The outcome was favorable to the students. Thanks to the Karens two, Stan and Pat.

Stan, who handled that assembly of juniors, in regard to the class rings and upcoming junior prom, very well. Speaking of rings, the junior class ring has a different Indian head on it. It is the front view of the Indian rather than the side view like the Class of '72 had.

Wonder how Paula C. likes having her sister teacher in school, and how does Paula's sister like teaching in the High School?

43 Lot Subdivision
wins tentative approval

The Tewksbury Planning Board Monday night approved a preliminary plan for a 43-lot subdivision of Kendall Road.

Developers Joseph Aubut and John Sullivan will build the subdivision, Magna Vista at Ames Hill, as an extension of Lancaster Drive. A street called Meredith Road will be added to the extension.

The plan approved by the board showed flood plains on it, and included 11 lots beside Meadow Brook. Approval was based on the condition the plan be presented to the Road Commission for advice.

While approving the plan, Chairman Joseph Doherty criticized the subdivision as creating a dead-end street on Kendall Road, which he described as "not fit for a bicycle, leave along a car."

The board took under advisement the results of a public hearing to consider approving the 34-lot Pleasant View Estates subdivision between Andover Street and Rte. 495 near Trull Road.

The board took under advisement the results of a public hearing to consider approving plans for a 34-lot subdivision called Pleasant View Estates between Trull Road and the Dewing School.

More than a dozen persons questioned developer Timothy Sullivan and his engineer, Robert P. Morris, about the subdivision, but no one spoke in opposition.

Several, however, expressed fears there would be drainage problems in the subdivision. They said already water bubbles up from several parts of the land.

Doherty explained the Board of Health had jurisdiction in such cases, and noted the health board "already stated several lots might not be suitable for building. Before building on any lot could start, he noted, the health board would have to approve that lot as suitable."

The board agreed to ask Town Counsel Charles J. Zaroulis for advice and to discuss with the Road Commission Wednesday problems surrounding Marcia Jean Drive subdivision.

Developer Thomas Hodgson asked the board to waive drainage plans on the street because the board and Road Commission haven't agreed in the past seven months on a drainage plan for the subdivision.

The board released four lots of Pineforest Estates with no bond required for developer Robert Sullivan. Board member Edward A. Flanagan noted Sullivan already had a $10,000 bond posted which covered work largely completed.

Also released were eight lots of Bowmar Park on receipt of a $1,500 bond to insure road repairs and sidewalks are completed.

Members of the board said they would consider approving drainage plans for Cardigan Road if developed Frederick H. Baldwin Jr. presented written proof former engineering consultant John Fleming approved changes in the plans.

Baldwin explained Fleming allowed several changes, but only notified him in writing about them. As a result, Baldwin said, the Road Commission disapproved the plan because, among other things, it had no record of the changes.

The commission, he reported, threatened it would have him rip up the streets in the subdivision because they didn't meet plans.

BOARD OF HEALTH
FUNDS DRUG HOTLINE

Tewksbury will get a temporary drug-health coordinator until January 1 as a result of a Board of Health action Tuesday night.

The board authorized the Drug Action Committee to hire a part-time coordinator for drug and health matters upon the suggestion of DAC chairman Frederick W. Montague.

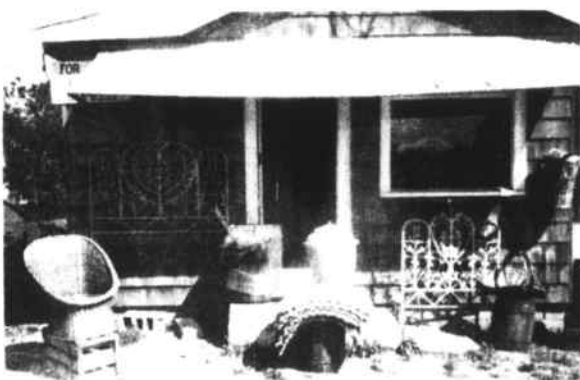

Montague indicated Mrs. Jean Dunlevy would be assigned to the job. Mrs. Dunlevy is a registered nurse who has run the drug hotline since it began and has had eight years of experience in drug counseling.

The board funded her services up to $100 a week until the end of the year. Board members said after the town meeting her duties would be absorbed by a health inspector, which the board hopes the town will approve.

Mrs. Dunlevy said in addition to operating the hotline, she would consult with educators and town officials to gather data on local drug and personality problems. "This will be valuable material," she said.

"Its going to report on what is happening in Tewksbury, not Lowell or any other place."

Prior to the vote, the Health Board only paid the telephone bill for the hotline. Mrs. Dunlevy contributed her services free.

TEWKSBURY SELECTMEN ORDER DOG REMOVED

The Tewksbury Board of Selectmen Tuesday night ordered Ronald G. Chilson, of 435 Pleasant St., to give his German shepherd to someone outside the town within two weeks.

Action was taken after a half-hour hearing in which witnesses testified they saw Chilson's dog attack a boy, Charles Winitzer, of 390 Pleasant St., and gouge him severely June 11.

Chairman Joseph J. Whelan warned Chilson the selectmen had the power to order the dog destroyed if the order wasn't followed.

Although Chilson said he wanted to keep the dog, he admitted he had to call the dog five times before it stopped attacking the boy. "I just thank God I was there, was able to call him off," added Chilson.

The selectmen named Mrs. Louella Dewing advisor to the Historic Commission. Maureen Kelly, Alma Barry, Mary Brown, Maureen Maillet and Norma Heider were appointed to the commission. David Beattie was appointed to the Ames Pond Committee.

Building Inspector George Nawn was granted $2,014 in retroactive pay since January 1 as part of step increases approved by the Internal Revenue Service as within wage laws.

The selectmen proclaimed the week of November 5-11 League of Women Voters Week.

ST. DOROTHY'S
SCHOOL OF RELIGION

Primary: Please pick up the lesson schedule for the first term, since the lessons do not always follow as they appear in the book. Another schedule will be distributed early in December for the second term.

Home Classes: Permission has been granted for a Pilot Neighborhood Class on the grade five level in the Grace Drive-Fairmeadow Road Area. This was due to a special request by Mrs. R. Landrigan who agreed to become a regular faculty member and who wished to experiment with a class of this type. One more could be allowed on this level should any parent be interested.

There is a possibility of having two Pilot Classes for grade four and six. No more can be allowed for this year due to a previous arrangement made at the Glen Road School.

Several parents have agreed to work with a number of grade seven students in the home and should anyone wish to Pilot Home Classes in grade 8 they should contact Thomas Sheehan, Starr Ave., Tewksbury.

Billing: Bills for tuition for the School of Religion will be mailed by mid-October.

Board Decision: The Governing Board of the School of Religion decided on September 19th that on the first day of classes at the Glen Road School, an estimate would be taken of the number of students involved in regular sports programs on Saturday mornings. Should the number exceed eight students from each session, no transfers will be considered and the student will be marked absent if he fails to attend class. The Glen Road School is available only on Saturday mornings.

Special Meetings
October 1st: All classes began this week.

October 10th: Important meeting of the parents of grade eight students. 7:30 pm in the lower Church.

You can tell by his license:

He is an American who was in Iceland, and didn't pay his import tax

Erwin Hanke, 23 year old Electronic Technician Third Class, US Navy is on his way to New Orleans in his Volkswagen. That is where he is to be stationed for the next 2½ years. He has just returned from Iceland, where he spent two years, and which fact leads up to: If an Icelandic were to see Irwin's car, as he drives to New Orleans (still with Icelandic plates) he would know that Irwin, while in Iceland, was an American, and that, as an American, he had not paid the import duty on his Volkswagen.

Iceland may or may not be the only country to tell such a tale by the license plates, but it does tell the tale. The first letter, on his license plate, J, is assigned to US Servicemen, in Iceland. If there is a second letter, it is O, and that means no tax has been paid on the car. If Erwin had attempted to sell that car to an Icelandic citizen both he and the Icelandic would have been in deep trouble. Only the Icelandic government can buy a car on which the import tax has not been paid, and after having bought it the government will then sell it, to a private citizen after adding on the price of the tax.

It's quite a system, and it seems to keep people honest.

Erwin enlisted in the Navy 3½ years ago, in Lowell, and after appropriate schooling was assigned to a station which is 39 kilometers south of Reykjavik, the capital city of Iceland. He arrived at the station, in a place called Keflavik, in September 1970. Four months later he was joined by his wife. The two of them saw nearly all there was to see in that island republic - all except the north coast.

Erwin bought a Volkswagen from another Navy seaman, who had paid $1950 for it, new, a month before. He and his wife drove everywhere, anywhere, where there was something to be seen. They drove over 10,000 miles. Ever hear of Hekla? It is a volcano, and it is tall. Jules Verne, the French novelist, one hundred years ago, had the hero of one of his stories to go the center of the earth through a passageway through Hekla.

Hekla is almost always erupting. It erupted last June for a while, and Erwin and Mrs. Hanke drove over to see it. There were no roads, they just drove across rough lava, and when they got far enough they got out to feel lava that was still very warm, from that eruption.

Erwin climbed a couple of mountains too, on the southwest coast. One Selfess, and the other Gulfess, which means Golden Falls. Spending a couple of years in a country, and traveling around, gives a person an opportunity to learn the language.

He went to the Plain of the Althing, where the Icelandic parliament met, over 1000 years ago - the oldest parliament in the world. He visited hot springs, and he flew out from the north coast in an Air Force plane, to go north of the Arctic Circle.

The Icelandic language, of course, is the old Norse, the language of the Sagas, and in learning that language Erwin had to tackle a few letters that have long since been dropped from the modern languages, including English.

Ask Erwin what the letter Thorn is. He can tell you. Ask him about Aurora Borealis, which flickers all night long, during the winter, when the nights are long, and there are no other lights.

But he won't be able to use all that information in New Orleans, will he?

Inter agency Council

A series of informational meetings is being planned by the Inter-Agency Council. The Council, which has been meeting monthly for the past year, includes representatives from the Public Health, Police, Recreation, Welfare and School Departments as well as representatives from Wilmington Family Counseling, Fish, Solomon Mental Health Center and clergy from Wilmington churches.

The purpose of the Council is to identify social and health needs in Wilmington and attempt to develop community resources to meet these needs.

The Council also wishes to acquaint the townspeople with existing agencies and resources. To provide this information, during the coming months a series of panel discussions will be held covering topics such as mental health, counseling, welfare, public health and drug programs in the area.

The first meeting of the series, to be held Thursday, October 19th at the library conference room, will feature the Mental Health Association film, "Only Human".

WILMINGTON SPOTLIGHTERS
TO HOLD DINNER PARTY

Wilmington's small theater group, The Spotlighters recently held their first meeting of the season at which an eventful year was planned.

It was decided that the group will conduct a dinner party-theater-dance combination in November. A roast beef dinner will be followed by the presentation of last season's successful one-act play "Next" and capped off with an informal dance. Date will be forthcoming.

At the same meeting, members voted unanimously to stage a musical this year, probably in April. It will be the first such attempt by the Spotlighters. They have selected the musical comedy based on "The Secret Life of Walter Mitty". It will be a two-evening production.

The next regular meeting of the group will be held on Monday evening, October 23rd at 7:30 at the Mildred Rogers School. New members are encouraged to be on hand, anyone from 16 to 99 will be most welcome.

Hey Ho,
for a gay Pibroch

The Wilmington Planning Board, Tuesday evening held a hearing on a new real estate development, off Aldrich, and, as usual, turned it down.

During a lull, which lasted for 15 minutes, Atty. Joe Courtney turned on his tape recorder, with tapes of bagpipe music, and other sounds to soothe the Scottish breast. As can be seen above, Joe listened to the music with rapture. Bill MacKinnon (in dark shirt, below), like a true Scot, also enjoyed the music. The fact that he is beating his hand on the table does not show, but the reader can guess his feelings by the far-away look in his eyes.

TEWKSBURY JAYCEES-JAYCEEETTES SPONSOR SAFETY PROGRAM

The Tewksbury Jaycees and Jayceeettes will sponsor a project of Halloween safety. The program has been designed to preserve the best aspects of the "trick or treat" tradition for the youngsters of Tewksbury.

Darrell Fernald, local Jaycee President has appointed Ralph Kelley chairman and Mrs. James Pollard, Jayceeette president has indicated that her group views the program with enthusiasm.

The plan, which employs the Halloween safety rules of the National Safety Council, provides parents with a set of guidelines for protecting the safety of youngsters who take part in the annual Halloween custom of masquerading while visiting neighbors to collect candy and other treats.

On Halloween Night, residents wishing to cooperate are requested to keep their porch or exterior lights on as an indication of their willingness to welcome young visitors. Children are encouraged to call only at lighted homes.

Parents are asked to think in terms of light colored costumes decorated with reflective tape for greater visibility of the children. Face masks should be eliminated as they tend to restrict vision. Plan costumes that will avoid tripping the youngsters.

APPEALS BOARD ALLOWS GAS STATION

The Tewksbury Board of Appeals September 27 granted a variance and special permits to allow a gas station at the corner of River Road and Andover Street.

Northeast Land Development Corp. had asked the board September 25 to allow a 12 by seven foot gasoline island and signs at the location. Northeast felt the station necessary to draw customers to a small complex of convenience shops planned for the same location, said Northeast's attorney, Howard Lane.

The board granted a variance to Timbar Realty Trust from frontage requirements for a lot at 441 River St. No abutter or resident objected to the request for the lot, on which a present structure exists.

Board members took under advisement a request for a variance from frontage requirements on land beside 2 Herbert St. No one spoke in opposition to the request, made by Miles Record.

Also taken under advisement was a request for a variance from frontage requirements for 11 lots of land on Overlook Drive, off Kendall Road. The request was made by Kingston Realty Trust.

The board granted a variance from frontage requirements to Robert B. Stephens to allow homes on two lots on County Road. Stephens had said at the September 25 hearing he was allowed to build on paper streets and would meet frontage requirements, but thought the streets would present a poor appearance.

Mary H. Davis was also granted a variance from frontage requirements for a home to be built on Pupkis Road at the rear of 8 Heath St. The Davis hearing was held September 25 and decided two days later.

RAW SEWAGE DUMP STUDY COMMITTEE MEETS IN TEWKSBURY

A meeting of the Raw Sewage Dump Study Committee in Tewksbury Tuesday night brought out that a special night soil septic system wastes would cost $10,000 to $15,000.

Paul Heider said a unit in Acton cost that figure, and said he would visit other towns to learn the systems and cost of systems used by them.

Heider said the Acton system resembled several ice skating rinks.

Night soil, he said, was dumped into one pool, and then is allowed to drift into another pool that acts as a leaching field for less solid wastes. Several of the secondary pools would be used in peak periods, he said.

Heider said water coming from the second pools was portable and could go into brooks or dry wells. A system in Billerica, Heider reported, was unable to take night soil. He said he would visit other towns to study their systems.

Coldwell commented, "One factor is sure: we are trying to come out of the dump."

THIEVES FIND PRAYING PROFITABLE

Thieves took advantage of church worshippers in Tewksbury last week by robbing their cars.

Brian S. Quinn of 2830 Old Main St. took police two tool boxes and tools worth a total of $250 were stolen from his car as it was parked outside South Methodist Church Thursday night.

William Hickey of 1291 Shawshen St. and Mark Neville of Royal Street, Wilmington, reported their cars were robbed while they were attending Mass Saturday evening at St. Williams Church.

Hickey said cashiers checks worth $37.67 and $10 were taken, and a bottle of Ginger Ale. Neville reported a tape deck, 12 tapes, a portable AM-FM radio and blanket were stolen, along with an engineering book worth $100. Police recovered the book in nearby bushes.

Teacher absences worry Tewksbury school Head

School Supt. John N. Wynn said September 27 teacher absenteeism is running so high the Tewksbury school system will be in trouble if he can't get state aid to pay substitute teachers.

Wynn told the School Committee town funds allocated for substitute teachers are quickly running out and may not last until the end of 1972.

The superintendent criticized teachers for taking so many days off and not volunteering more to chaperone high school dances. He said only four teachers volunteered to oversee the first school dance this year, though 500 teenagers attended the event.

The committee tabled action to establish parent - teacher discussion days when teachers could talk over students' problems with parents during regular work hours.

Members agreed if the program was implemented, two hours during each of two days in April would be committed for the discussions. Because 50 per cent of parents weren't expected to accept invitations for the talks, an average 15 minutes could be set aside for each parent accepting, committeemen agreed. They also agreed if the time allotted wasn't sufficient they would later consider adding more hours or days for the discussions.

The committee didn't act immediately on the plan because Wynn advised voting be delayed until after teachers were consulted on the plan.

Wynn disclosed his continued search for a man qualified to head the secondary school language department. He said the former head resigned too late to advertise outside the town for a qualified replacement before the school session began. He said no one in the system met the qualifications.

The superintendent announced principals are meeting to plan a new general health program. He said a new school scoreboard at the Center School would cost $4,000 to erect and rig properly.

The committee gave the nod to fifth grade students at the Dewing School for an over-night camping trip to study ecology at Greenfield State Park in New Hampshire October 7 and 8. Students would pay their own way.

ESTHER RUSSELL REAPPOINTED AS JUSTICE OF THE PEACE

Wilmington's Town Clerk, Esther Russell of 10 Wildwood Street has been reappointed as a Justice of the Peace, according to State Secretary John F. Davoren. The Executive Council confirmed her to a seven year term after her name was submitted by the governor.

State Senator and Mrs. Ron MacKenzie, and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cronin of Andover, photographed at a party held in honor of the Senator, in Bedford, last Saturday.

Mr. Cronin is the Republican candidate for Congress. Also present was James Miceli, Republican candidate for the legislature.

COLUMBUS DAY CLARIFICATION

In response to numerous inquiries, the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce has issued a clarification on the Status of Columbus Day, which falls this year on Monday, October 9th.

The 1972 Legislature made no change in the laws applying to Columbus Day, stated James G. Kelso, Chamber Executive Vice President. Changes made during the past legislative session pertain only to Veterans Day - the fourth Monday in October. Columbus Day remains a full legal holiday, with Sunday laws in force from midnight to midnight. Thus, no commercial or industrial activity is permitted during this 24-hour period, without a police permit.

Anyone wishing further information on the holiday is asked to contact the Chamber's Public Affairs Department, 426-1250.
